

Prof. Dr. Oliver Frör, Environmental Economics,
Univ. of Koblenz-Landau,
Fortstraße 7,
D-76829 Landau

Daniel Callo-Concha
callo-concha@uni-landau.de
2. November 2020

The Working Group of Environmental Social Sciences/Economics at the Institute for Environmental Sciences (IES) of the University of Landau in alliance with the Center for Development Research (ZEF) of the University of Bonn, within the framework of the project PRODIGY soil biodiversity governing tipping points in the Amazon <www.prodigy-biotip.org>, offers a:

Student assistantship (SHK)

Envisaged activities:

- Review of literature on the subject of interest
- Implementation of preliminary data systematization and analyses
- Administration of literature databases
- Other activities on request

Required profile:

- To be enrolled in a MSc program
- To be familiar with scientific and organizational duties
- To be a team player, adaptive and proactive
- To have good command of English language, and knowledge of Spanish and/or Portuguese
- Are assets: knowledge of ethnography; statistics and R; GIS and remote sensing

Terms of the position:

- Part time: 25% or 10 hs./week
- Envisaged starting: January 2020
- Term: Initially 3 months, subject to renewal
- Venue: Home office is acceptable, but regular meetings at the Center for Development Research (ZEF), University of Bonn, are expected. Upon agreement, a working space can be provided.

To apply send an email with: a) motivation letter, b) CV and c) relevant certificates in a single PDF file to: callo-concha@uni-landau.de and d.callo-concha@uni-bonn.de with the subject: "PRODIGY SHK". Deadline 31st of December 2020.

The University of Landau is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applications from female candidates and minorities. International students are encouraged to apply.